Denton County Maintains AAA Bond Rating

DENTON COUNTY, TX- Denton County maintained its AAA bond rating on outstanding general obligation limited tax debt and received an AAA rating on $125 million Permanent Improvement and Refunding Bonds, which will save money by reducing interest rates on future debt issuances, according to Moody's Investors Service.

The ratings reflect the county's ability to repay debt and debt-like obligations without consideration of any pledge, security or structural features. The county has approximately $643.51 million of debt outstanding post-sale. Officials said the outlook is stable.

The ratings also reflect the county's growing economy, which benefits from its proximity to the Dallas-Fort Worth region and shows strong financial performance and conservative budgeted that has yielded healthy and consistent reserve levels across all governmental and business type funds.

Leads on other persons engaging in prostitution were also developed and are being followed up on by Investigators with the Denton County Sheriff's Office Human Trafficking Unit.

Twelve of the suspects charged in this operation are from Denton County, two are from Cooke County, one

The 90+ members of Scarborough's performing company can also be found throughout the Festival bringing the "Village of Scarborough" to life with cannon drill & ancient weapons demonstrations, lessons in History, Customs & Manners, competing in Combat Competitions, or teaching you how to dance a Court Dance!

You can enjoy the human-powered Renaissance rides, games of skill, a Petting Zoo, pony rides, and the Grande Parade.

Entertainment is not the only thing to enjoy at Scarborough Renaissance Festival*. The Festival's Artisan Marketplace is one of the largest outdoor juried craft shows in the country with over 200 shoppes filled with exquisite one-of-a-kind handmade treasures. These are not your ordinary "crafts", these are unique treasures that you simply cannot find at any other art show or event such as glass sculptures, pottery, life castings, masks, stone carvings, metal works, apparel, handmade soaps, blown glass, tapestries, and handwo-ven hammocks just to name a few. There are also demonstrations by many of the artisans showcasing age-old crafts such as glass sculpting, candle making, glass blowing, stone carving, weaving, pottery, and metal works throughout each day of the Festival.

When you are ready to take a break, enjoy food fit for a king! The food at Scarborough Renaissance Festival* is a step above traditional "fair" food in both quality and variety. Feast on our signature giant smoked Turkey legs (the best you will ever eat) and Scottish Eggs. Don't miss out on the handmade pastas at the Pasta Palace, the tasty treats made from scratch at the Scarborough Bakery each day, and the largest selection of food-on-a-stick in Texas! Indulge on crab cakes, fresh fruit, salads, Italian nachos, stir-fry, gyros, giant fajitas, stuffed spuds, tempura delights, fresh hummus, crepes, quiches, and fish & chips. You can also try some of the featured items and weekly specials at our full-service restaurant – the Rose & Crown Inn – like Shepard's Pie, Muffulettas, and seasoned meat pies.

Adults can enjoy Scarborough's new mead selection from North Texas' own Breaking Brew Meadery along with craft beers and other libations at the twelve pubs and taverns. Those with a more discerning palate can partake in the daily wine or beer tasting events. Each week of the Festival, the tastings have a different theme and variety of wine or beer so each week is a different experience. The tastings are separate ticketed events ($35 per person in addition to Festival admission) and space is limited, so you will want to get your discounted tickets at www.SRFestival.com ahead of time. Of course, you must be at least 21 to enjoy the adult beverages or participate in the tasting events.

Each weekend also has a different theme and a variety of special events such as Kid's Free and the $10 off discount for Seniors on the opening weekend (April 8 & 9), the Artisans Showcase and Celtic Weekend just to name a few. Some of the special events such as the Chocolate Sensations Tasting Event (May13 & 14) require a separate ticket and space can be extremely limited, so get your tickets early. If you are into cosplay and/or costumes, you don't want to miss the Viking & Ale Weekend (April 22 & 23), Live the Fantasy Weekend (April 29 & 30) and Legends of the Seas Weekend (May 20 & 21) where you can compete in costume contests and other fun events! Keep in mind that while costumes are welcome every day of the Festival, they are definitely not required.

Festival tickets are $37 for adults and $17 for children. Kids 4 and under are always free. Discount tickets can be found at Tom Thumb & Albertsons starting April 1st. The Magical Place Where East Meets West

Istanbul, Turkey
Jodie Linton-Prickett

Drifting back and forth between relaxation and being on edge, I sipped on a hot apple spiced tea, with tiny nuggets of fruit pieces transferring from my cup to my mouth then dancing on my tongue. I wasn't even sure what led me into the high-pressure carpet shop, slash confectionery shop. Rows and rows of gourmet Turkish Delight filled the shelves in every color under the rainbow, the vivid reds, pinks and greens rolled up covering a chewy gel-like concoction, then coated in chunks of nuts, or rose petals or lotus flowers. The fragrant teas and candies heightened my senses as three men tried to sell me their wares, from carpets, to spices to of course, Turkish Delight. Overwhelmed and under prepared, I was ready to depart with an eight by ten-inch bag containing a jar of saffron, a jar of honey and six pieces of Turkish Delight, and a free charm thrown in as a gift. After a vigorous pounding on a handheld calculator by one of the men, 4700.00 Turkish Lira was the magic number. Roughly about $250.00. The second the credit card was swiped, I knew I had been had, but it was the price I seemed to negotiate to leave the building, and I was almost glad to pay it. I'm far from an inexperienced traveler, Turkey rounded out my 50th country and my fifth continent. Yet, there I was walking back to the hotel with my tail between my legs. Turkey had piqued my interest as a teenager, when my grandparents returned from a church trip from Istanbul. My grandmother marveled over the history of the Hagia Sofia and its magnificent architectural feat. How it was originally built as a Christian Church in 537 A.D. and then it was turned into a Mosque then later into a museum. Today it is now a hybrid of an active Mosque and a museum. She told me as you exit the be-hemoth of a structure, you can turn back and look at what little remnants were left of the Christian mosaics, almost lost completely to time. While only fragments, they were astoundingly beautiful. One day, I knew I would go there. Due to bouts of unrest, Turkey was on my bucket list and removed, lowered as a must-see priority and elevated. It wasn't until I read Dan Brown's novel, Inferno, that I really knew I had to go to see the Basilica Cistern and my grandmother's beloved Hagia Sofia. The subterranean palace, the Basilica Cistern, ensnared my imagination. It escalated Turkey back to the top of my list. Unable to even conceive how impressive this structure might be in real life, I absolutely had to see it with my own eyes. The construction began in 428 A.D., in the Byzantine era. As you descend about 52 steps down under the plaza area up above, the engineering marvel comes into view. Over 330 salvaged granite and marble columns that soar 30 feet high hold up the ceiling, grated metal walkways suspend you over the water, which mirrors the columns, giving the illusion you are looking down 30 feet, as well as up. I gazed in awe and walked the 105,000 square feet at least twice. Captivated by the Medusa heads and the heartbreaking column of tears, which is said to commemorate the lives lost during the construction. It absolutely made the trip worth taking. This exotic land of over 3,000 Mosques, with soaring minarets populating the skyline is absolutely enigmatic. The calls to prayer are otherworldly, transporting you to a place that feels unreal. Istanbul is vast and heavily populated. Cradled in rolling hills, surrounded by two brilliant seas and spreading over two continents. The food is interesting and delicious with flavors and traditions, which I have never experienced. The streets are filled with cats, cherished and protected by the Turks. Ruled by three legendary empires, Roman, Byzantine and the Ottoman, with over 8500 years of history, it is no wonder it is the fifth most visited city in the world. On my last night, I went on a dinner cruise, seamlessly gliding across the sea, we passed almost unknowingly between Asia and Europe. As I sipped on my Turkish Coffee, I watched as a Whirling Dervish slipped into his trance. Truly a sight to behold. As he spun, his long white robe with a full skirt started to open up and swirl fluidly, pulling me into his daze, as he tilted his head, his tall dark hat balanced perfectly without hesitation. It was then, I once again recognized the feeling, lingering between relaxation and being on the edge. I knew it was in my cards to go to this strange, yet mysterious land, but I somehow felt that it was not necessary to ever return.

Why Should I Use A REALTOR to Buy/Sell My Home?

Hiring a REALTOR (licensed real estate agent that's a member of the National Association of Realtors) can save you both time and money. They can make the difference in selling your home or having a "winning offer"! Having an expert that knows the ins and outs of your local market and guide you to a successful closing is invaluable. Selling and purchasing a home for most is the largest financial transaction and often stressful and complex. Why go it alone when you can have an advocate on your team with years of negotiation experience? This is especially true if you are purchasing a new construction home. If they are certified in new construction sales it is a plus. PLEASE make sure to take your Realtor with you BEFORE you go to the model home. Many times the builder will not allow future representation if you don't include your Realtor from the initial visit. Exclusive access to accurate market data and over 150 real estate forms, your realtor will ensure you have the critical information needed. In addition, they can provide you with professional contacts and referrals from lenders to landscapers. The current real estate market has changed significantly since 2021.

- According to NTREIS, in Denton County, YTD 2023 median price of a home is $425,000. This is down 1.2% from 2022 $430,000 (based on existing and new construction home sales).
- The number of days a home is currently on the market is 53 (76 days for new construction) which is an increase of 190% over this time last year of 16 days.
- The Good news is we have 1.9 months of inventory. This is UP 216.7% from this time in 2022.

This camp will teach participants where their food comes from and how to prepare it for optimal nutrition. Each day of camp will focus on a different food group. Participants will work in the garden, experience a mobile dairy, and see livestock. Then participants will use simple cooking techniques to prepare food, using practical skills they will carry through the years. Camp is located at Denia Recreation Center in Denton. The camp costs $75, and you can register directly through Denton Parks & Rec.'s website. The link is <https://bit.ly/3MTZUsR>.

Denton County 4-H offers two summer programs open to the public and our 4-H members.

The first one I want to share is 4-H & FCH One Day. This one-day workshop will teach you about the 4-H projects under the FCH (Family and Community Health) umbrella. Those projects include Food & Nutrition and Fashion & Interior Design. Through this workshop, you will gain hands-on experience and open your eyes to the world of 4-H. It is open to kids entering 3-12th grade at no cost. You can sign up on the Denton AgriLife website here: <https://bit.ly/41B36xA>

The last summer program I would like to share is Clover Kids Camp. Clover Kids is a group for kids not old enough to be in 4-H yet. This introductory camp will be full of fun, hands-on activities showcasing the various projects in 4-H. It will be held July 11-13, 2023, at the North Texas Fairgrounds. Registration is currently full, but you can email steven.baringer@ag.tamu.edu to be placed on a waitlist to sign up. There is a $10 supply fee associated with this camp.

Denton County AgriLife's summer programs are led by experienced and qualified instructors passionate about working with youth. The programs are designed to be fun, engaging, and educational.

According to Denton County 4-H Extension Agent Steven Baringer, "The Denton County AgriLife summer programs offer a unique opportunity for children and teenagers to learn new skills, make new friends, and have fun while doing it. We believe these programs will help young people develop life skills that will serve them well throughout their lives."

The cost of the summer programs varies depending on the activity and length of the program. Scholarships are available for families who may need financial assistance.

In conclusion, the Denton County 4-H summer programs provide an excellent opportunity for young people. These programs are designed to be engaging, educational, and fun and offer a range of activities to suit different interests. So, why not sign up your child today and let them experience the benefits of the 4-H summer programs?

Texas Comptroller's Office Accepting Grant Applications for Broadband Infrastructure Projects

AUSTIN, TX—Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar announced today his agency is now accepting grant applications for broadband infrastructure projects as part of the Bringing Online Opportunities to Texas (BOOT) Program.

Texas has been allocated $363.8 million through the federal Coronavirus Capital Projects Fund to carry out critical infrastructure projects related to expanding access to high-speed internet. The Broadband Development Office (BDO) will distribute these funds through a multi-round competitive grant process, with this first round of funds totaling $120 million.

"I am encouraging potential applicants to review all supporting materials on the BOOT Program webpage before beginning an application," Hegar said. "Expanding broadband access will require collaboration and partnerships between local governments and private entities, across counties and among residents. This infrastructure is the interstate highway system of this century, and ensuring Texans have access to reliable, high-speed internet is critical for Texas' continued economic growth and prosperity."

To participate in the program and submit a proposed project for funding, an eligible applicant must be one of the following:

- Political subdivision of this state
- Commercial broadband service provider

- Non-commercial broadband service provider

A partnership of any of the above

Applications must be submitted using the BDO Application System by Friday, May 5.

In January, the BDO published the Texas Broadband Development Map to identify eligible areas of the state for funding projects. Applications must only include unserved and underserved broadband serviceable locations in these eligible areas.

On March 6, Hegar announced the BDO's intent to solicit an initial round of grant applications for $120 million in funding for broadband infrastructure projects as part of the BOOT Program. This announcement — the Notice of Funding Availability (NOFA) — provided details on the program, eligibility and application process.

The BDO posted responses to the questions received from interested parties during the public NOFA question and answer period on the TXSmartBuy website. These responses will help clarify the NOFA and application process.

Eligible broadband infrastructure projects must be designed to deliver, upon completion, broadband service that reliably meets or exceeds symmetrical speeds of 100 megabits per second (Mbps). Awarded applicants must also provide a universally available low-cost option for locations being serviced by the project and participate in a federal broadband subsidy program.

The BDO was established by the state legislature in 2021 and housed within the Texas Comptroller's office to help close the digital divide in Texas. The BOOT Program is the state's first competitive broadband grant program focused on last-mile connectivity: connecting end-users to high-speed internet. The program supports broadband infrastructure projects in eligible areas that bring reliable, affordable internet service to communities in need.

DCPH Links will make initial contact with those seeking mental health services within three business days. The program is anticipated to come online this summer.

Anyone experiencing a mental health emergency is asked to call the crisis line at 1-800-762-0157.

Precinct 3 Commissioner Bobbie J. Mitchell said the idea of navigators for mental health started when officials noted an increasing number of inmates with mental health issues. "They decided the best decision was to have navigators, find out what problems existed and find the resources needed to address the issues," she said.

DCPH was determined as the best place for the navigators to position the program in a manner in which, once funding from the American Rescue Plan Act ran out, DCPH would be able to find additional grant funds to cover costs of the mental health navigators, Commissioner Mitchell said.

When Commissioner Mitchell learned of a 5-year-old who ran in to traffic because he no longer wanted to live, "it touched my heart," she said.

"We, here in Denton County, can help," Commissioner Mitchell said.

Denton County Judge Andy Eads echoed her sentiments, adding: "We realize there is a need for more mental health resources. Hopefully, this one-stop-shop navigator system will be able to walk them through the process and help them seek treatment and reduce the ping-pong effect of bouncing around."

The ratings come as the county prepares to issue the first tranche of $110 million of the $650 million in road construction bonds approved last November.

Though the long-term liability reported on the county's balance sheet, the manageable ratio and fixed costs ratio that exceeds peers but remains affordable given strong revenue trends.

"This is a report card from outside agencies on the financial priorities of the Commissioners Court and our local economies," said Denton County Judge Eads.

"In Denton County, we are committed to ensure the best use of taxpayer dollars and truly appreciate voters trust in allowing us $650 million for road construction last November," he said. "Our fiscally conservative approach has stood the test of time with our bond ratings, which have continued to remain in AAA standing for a number of years with Moody's and Standard & Poor's."

from Tarrant County, one from Grayson County, and one from Kaufman County.

According to the United States Department of State website, "Prostitution and related activities—including pimping and patronizing or maintaining brothels—fuel the growth of modern-day slavery by providing a façade behind which traffickers for sexual exploitation operate. Where prostitution is legalized or tolerated, there is a greater demand for human trafficking victims and nearly always an increase in the number of women and children trafficked into commercial sex slavery."

Sheriff Tracy Murphree states that human trafficking is a plague in this country and it's painfully obvious that Denton County is not immune. Arresting those that seek out these victims for self-gratification is one of many ways we attack this problem. The Denton County Sheriff's Office in cooperation with our law enforcement partners will use these operations along with others in a relentless effort to end this scourge.
